Hon. Samuel W. Williams, Hichmond,

the board, do you think you have given the people a reasonable explanation of your reply to the gentleman from Amherst, "Why didn't you boys tell me that a month ago?" Should a judge be told the evidence in a case a month before he sits in judgment? There were two other candidates besides Mr. Scott and myself—one, a graduate of Harvard, who filed his application just before the board met. His chances were lost, so far as Mr. Williams was concerned, under the "month ago" rule. Your attempt to draw the attention of the public from the issue and to centre it upon questions totally ir-

ARGUE INJUNCTION

Restraining Order Against City. Judge Crump, of the Law and Equity Court, heard argument yesterday on the temporary injunction issued by him last week restraining the city of Richmend from pursuing further proceed-ings for the condemnation of a strip of the railroad's property on the west side of Fourteenth Street to be used in widening the approach to the new Mayo Bridge. The Southern Railway, through its attorneys, sought to have the injunc-tion made permanent. City Attorney Pollard asked that it be squashed. Judge Crump took the matter under advisement until next Tuesday morn-ing.
